Women’s Congressional Policy Institute in cooperation with

Congresswomen Madeleine Dean and Jenniffer González-Colón
Co-Chairs, Congressional Caucus for Women’s Issues and
Congresswomen Lucy McBath and Kat Cammack
Vice-Chairs, Congressional Caucus for Women’s Issues

Invite you to the first conversation in a new economic briefing series:
The Impact of the Pandemic on Women in the Workforce

Tuesday, April 27, 2021
12:00 – 1:00 p.m. ET

SPEAKERS

Emily M. Dickens, Chief of Staff, Head of Government Relations, and Corporate Secretary, Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM), who will speak about SHRM research, tools and HR best practices that create workplace cultures supportive of women.

Kate Meckler, International Vice President, Director, Region 7 - Northwestern, United Food and Commercial Workers International Union (UFCW), who will speak on the challenges facing women in the food retail, meat packing and processing, and other impacted industries.

Carla M. Gallo, Chief Business Officer, GK Pharmaceuticals, Manatí, Puerto Rico, who will speak to how the pandemic has impacted this woman-owned small business.

Kym Ramsey, Founder and Owner, Ric and Kym, LLC DBA The Willow School, Norristown, PA; Founder and President, Norristown Chamber of Commerce, who will speak to the impact of the pandemic on her woman-owned, private, full-day preschool program.

Additional Speakers to be confirmed.

Attendance is possible only with an advance RSVP to ensure the security of the virtual event

Click here to RSVP

This event was made possible through grants from the Society for Human Resource Management and the United Food and Commercial Workers International Union